Book Editing

Typically, scientific academic books are lengthy; they are highly technical and most of the time have a stiff publication timeline. They are often classified by subjects, chapters, and authorship; moreover, books must comply with strict formatting guidelines to meet the requirements of each publisher. Book editing requires rigor and excruciating attention to details. Pubrica experts are cognizant of this, as we have assisted clients in every phase of the book publication process. PHD, MPHARM, MD, ME, and MS—these are the qualifications of our book editors. We provide advice, feedback, and reports. Let Pubrica experts edit your books—timely and quick delivery - at a great price.
